SHE WAS SCOTCH, TOO

A certain canny Scotsman long carried on a courtship of long duration without definitely committing himself. The girl, if she worried herself at the long probation, gave no sign until one morning her tardy lover, thumbing a small notebook, said: "Maggie, I have been weighing up your suit points, and I have already gotten ten. When I get a dozen I'm goin' to ask ye the fatal question."

"Well, I wish ye luck, Jock," answered the maiden. "I have also gotten a wee book, and I have been puttin' down your bad points. There are nineteen in it already, and when it reaches the score I'm goin' tae accept the blacksmith."
